“ I’m happy I got to see Deon get his first apartment, work his shipyard job and hang out with him in Hampton and Richmond. Deon and his best friend drove up to VCU when I first started college where we attended a step show and had dinner. We also enjoyed a few nights out on the town. We always would text on each other’s birthday, have our cousin chats about the challenges of dating and relationships and just adulting in general. I’m going to miss seeing him at all the family events. Aunt Cheryl would always have his plate ready for him to take home in the corner of her kitchen. Deon never stayed too long at the family gatherings, but his presence was very much felt and memorable. In our last text he asked me in preparation for my birthday dinner ‘what’s the attire?’ I told him ‘Casual. I’m wearing jeans.’ I just wanted his support. I had no idea that dinner would be our last but I’m super grateful he came out.
