“ My man Otis. That was a name i called Vaughn at the yard. We worked so many boats on the pier in our days. So everybody knew vaughn loved to talk and would conversate with anyone. So he would sit somewhere on the pier chilling and after seeing him doing this. I started singing Otis Redding song, Sitting on the dock of the bay when I'd walk by him. He would just laugh and we'd talk. But it caught on and other people would call him Otis. But I'll miss my friend and those cheese and meat egg rolls he'd bring me. Rest In Peace My Friend

“ My boy vaughn, this one really hurts. He was my coworker at the yard and I was really looking forward to having one of our talks about life and family again. We were really forming a brotherly bond. I'm just glad he enjoyed himself and was finally at peace with alot of things. He loved his wife and took care of his business. I was blessed to have known him 🙏. You will be missed brother vaughan. See you in the next life bro.
